

Design Technology KNOWLEDGE ORGANISER

Key Vocabulary

plan design evaluate instructions purposeful
 design criteria

Key Facts

Playing board games has been a popular pastime for family and friends for many years, with some games being played by generations.

Anyone can win at a board game as they're about luck and not skill.

Board games are great for teaching skills such as team work, sharing, counting, playing fairly.

Board games are brightly coloured to make them attractive.

Lesson by Lesson

1. What do we know about what Design Technology?
2. Review current board games and create a design criteria.
3. Design a board game with a clear set of instructions.
4. Make the board game
5. Write a clear set of instructions.
6. Play your game with a friend and evaluate it by saying how saying what worked and how it could be improved.

Making A Board Game

Popular

Games

Possible Equipment

dice, spinner, counters

Ways to win

most points
 first to finish